

FRIENDS OF THE CRANNOG

As an independent charity (the Scottish Crannog Centre Trust), our mission as a community is to care for and make accessible the finds of Scottish crannog excavations and to interpret the lives of crannog dwellers for the enjoyment, education and inspiration of people of all ages. By becoming a friend of the Trust, you will be helping to support this mission and help us to carry out our long-term goals. Our aim is to move to a larger location on the northern shore of Loch Tay, to land that will be owned by the Trust and which will allow us to expand our museum and crannog reconstructions even further, something that cannot be done at our current site due to lease and space restrictions. Your involvement will help turn this aim into reality and will secure a legacy for the Scottish Crannog Centre so that future generations can discover and enjoy their local history and feel connected to the people who lived here 2,500 years ago.
